

When Genevieve Jaide takes the stage, everything else falls away. The pureness with which she delivers each note captivates the audience and brings the room to a state of presence that is rare to witness.